

Future Faculty Opening

Job Description:

Atlanta Youth Academy is always looking for strong faculty candidates. If you do not see a current job posting that matches your skill set, please use the Future Faculty Opening position to apply.

Your role at Atlanta Youth Academy is to provide students opportunities for maximum development and growth through suitable learning experiences by designing and implementing a wide variety of developmentally appropriate lessons and activities that will accommodate various learning styles in accordance with the school curriculum and mission statement.

Atlanta Youth Academy (AYA) is a 24-year-old Christian preparatory school for inner-city youth in Pre-Kindergarten through eighth grade who are willing to work hard and whose academic efforts are well-supported at home. Through an investment-partnership model between donors and our tuition-paying parents, AYA exposes students who otherwise might not have access to such opportunity to life-changing experiences, launching them to a brighter future in high school, college and beyond.

Job Qualifications:

Bachelor's degree required

Exhibit a passion for learning and teaching

Demonstrate excellent written and oral communications skills

Provides a warm and caring atmosphere and maintains open communication with students

Handles conflicts and discipline according to Atlanta Youth Academy handbook.
